

Who We Are

Description

A College Chief Financial Officer + Successful Stock Investor + Business Development Professional + Homeschool Father TEACHES Business, Finance and Successful Stock Investing

Eric Stasak is a home school father of 5, former college Chief Financial Officer and VP; successful investor, recognized stock market expert, author, and engineer.

- He has been investing in stocks for over 30 years. He worked for over 10 years in Europe in business development for U.S. corporations, developing and testing the foundation for his S.I.M.P.L.E. Stock Investing Method
- In 1997, at 34 years of age, Eric's success in investing allowed him to leave his corporate employment for full-time participation at Youth with a Mission (YWAM).
- He began teaching individuals and families principles of business and finance combined with successful stock investing in 2000 "for free!"
- Eric's business and finance courses are used by families and schools as a 1/2 credit social science elective and a key life-skill curriculum in the U.S. and internationally.
